

EVANSVILLE WEEKLY JOURNAL.

VOL. XIV.

EVANSVILLE, IND., THURSDAY MARCH 23, 1848.

NO. 5.

THE EVANSVILLE JOURNAL
PRINTED AND PUBLISHED
BY WM. H. CHANDLER & CO.

The Tri-Weekly Journal is published on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays, at $4.00 per annum, in advance.
The Weekly Journal is published on Thursdays, at $2.00 per annum in advance.

FOR PRESIDENT:
ZACHARY TAYLOR.

WHIG ELECTORAL TICKET.

SENATORIAL ELECTORS.

JOSEPH G. MARSHALL, of Jefferson.

GODFRED S. ORTH, of Tippecanoe.

DISTRICT ELECTORS.

1st Dist.—JOHN FITCHER, of Posey.

2d "—JOHN S. DAVIS, of Floyd.

3d "—MILTON GREGG, of Dearborn.

4th "—DAVID P. HOLLOWAY, of Wayne.

5th "—THOMAS D. WALPOLE, of Hancock.

6th "—LEWELL H. ROUSSEAU, of Greene.

7th "—EDWARD W. MCDONALD, of Clark.

8th "—JAMES F. SUT, of Clinton.

9th "—DANIEL D. PRATT, of Cass.

10th "—DAVID KILGORE, of Delaware.

CITY OF EVANSVILLE:

SATURDAY, MARCH 18, 1848.

THE TREATY RATIFIED.—It is announced under the telegraphic head of the Louisville papers of Tuesday, that the U. S. Senate on Friday ratified the Mexican Treaty, and the same was sent to the President for his approval.

It was reported there that Senator Seward has been appointed as Commissioner on the part of the United States, to repair to Mexico, and conclude the Treaty of Peace.

Before the adjournment of the House on Friday, a fight occurred between Messrs. Harlan and Jones, both of Georgia. The difficulty was amicably adjusted.

The House when it adjourned, agreed to adjourn over on Monday.

The Senate adjourned over until Tuesday.

MR. ADAMS' LETTERS TO HIS SON.—The New York Tribune has commenced a series of letters of JOHN QUINCY ADAMS, on the Bible and its teachings, which were written twenty-five years ago and addressed to his son. The first of the series we give to-day, and shall endeavor to find room for them as they appear. They are in number, and we believe they will be read with deep interest by many of our countrymen. The Tribune says: "The profound and various learning of Mr. Adams, his capacious intellect, his freedom from any imputation of bigotry or narrowness, and his conspicuous integrity of character and purity of life, naturally invest these letters with the majesty and persuasive power of departed greatness and goodness, and we trust they will be perused by thousands of the young and unlearned in the evidences of Christianity with earnest attention and enduring profit. The letters are nine in number, and will not be deemed too long by those who candidly peruse them. They were written in the prime of Mr. Adams' life, when his mind was freshly stored with the fruits of his earlier years of study and investigation."

THE UNION MAGAZINE.—The March number of this splendid monthly has come to hand. We have before spoken of the merits of this periodical, which we believe superior to any now claiming the patronage of the public.—The number now before us in point of illustration and typographical execution, goes ahead of all contemporaries; while the literary contents are of a very superior order. We take pleasure in recommending the work to our lady readers, and would be glad to have it receive a large support in our community. Single copies $3 two copies $5.

EXTENT OF THE UNITED STATES AND MEXICO.—The area of territory proposed to be ceded to the United States by Mexico, agreeably to the treaty, as computed by Mexican authorities, as follows:—Texas proper, 100,000 square miles; (Cochula and Texas united, in 1828, was estimated to contain 193,600 square miles)—New Mexico 214,800 do; Upper California, 376,344 do.

To the above should be added portions of Tamaulipas, Cochula, and Chihuahua, estimated area 60,000 square miles, making a total of 751,144 square miles.

Prior to the annexation of Texas the United States was estimated to contain 2,000,000 square miles, and Mexico 1,990,304 square miles. If the above treaty is adopted the United States of America, according to the above estimates, will then contain 2,751,144 square miles, and the republic of Mexico 939,160 square miles.

TEMPERANCE IN NEW ORLEANS.—The N. O. Crescent says: "It cannot but be gratifying to every philanthropist, particularly those who wish the special good of the denizens of New Orleans, (and charity 'begins at home,' you know,) to learn that the order of 'Sons of Temperance' is increasing with wonderful rapidity here. In July last they numbered only four hundred members; now they have over one thousand, with a sure prospect of a very large increase, as time advances. There are eighteen Divisions of the Order, one Grand Division, and four Temples of Honor. In the course of a few days they are to have a Grand Temple. As one evidence of the popularity of the Sons of Temperance, it may be mentioned that at the late complimentary Concert given by them to the 'Alleghenians,' the band of vocalists, nearly two thousand persons were present."

We hail with sincere pleasure the progress of this noble society in New Orleans. Through the North and East, their movements have been attended with incalculable benefit to thousands of families and multitudes of individuals.

THE RATIFICATION OF THE TREATY.—The Washington Union, under date of Friday night, 10 o'clock, thus notices the ratification of the treaty with Mexico by the United States Senate:

The Senate adjourned, to-night, a few minutes past 9 o'clock, after a session in closed doors of nine hours. The labor of the Senate has been very severe for several days.

We congratulate the country on the result of their deliberations. The treaty has been ratified, it is understood, by a vote of 38 to 15—three Senators, of course, being absent.

The constitution provides, that, "the (the President) shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties; provided two-thirds of the Senators present concur." This treaty is, therefore, ratified by more than the constitutional majority of two-thirds.

It is also understood that the votes both of the majority and minority are made up of both political parties.

It is said that the original treaty has been ratified with some modifications—as proposed by the President, or adopted by the Senate.

THE TREATY.—The National Intelligencer remarks in relation to the Mexican project:

"Though the Treaty is thus ratified, the injunction of secrecy has not been removed, either from the Treaty or the proceedings under it, because being incomplete until it has the sanction also of the Government of Mexico, the usage of Nations requires that the particulars of the Treaty should not be divulged. But no one doubts that the main features of the Treaty are substantially such as we have heretofore stated."

"It is quite necessary, however, to be borne in mind, that not only is the ratification by Mexico wanting to give effect to the Treaty but amendments have been made to it (not affecting either the Peace, the Cession of Territory, or the Confederation to be paid for it) which require the assent of Mexico before the Treaty can become binding upon the United States or upon her."

Commissioner to Mexico.—Senator Seward was nominated as Commissioner to Mexico, and his nomination confirmed by the Senate on the 14th inst. He has resigned his seat in the Senate.

"Indemnity for the Past"—The payment of 15 millions to Mexico for the slaughter of as many thousand of our best citizens.

"Security for the Future"—To pay Mexico 15 millions to raise armies to reconquer the conquered territory.

Among other things it is said the Senate struck out of the treaty the provision in favor of extending the time of ratifying it to 8 months, and the provision protecting the frontiers of Mexico from the incursions of the Indians, prohibiting the sale to them of fire-arms, ardent spirits, &c.

MR. CLAY'S MOVEMENTS.—We see that this distinguished Statesman has made, in New York city, a visit to ex-President Van Buren, and in his company, called on Mr. Gallatin. He has also visited Mr. John Jacob Astor, and also the Rutgers Female Institute. On Thursday he visited the public buildings and benevolent institutions, in company with the Common Council committee. Yesterday afternoon he had set apart for the reception of his friends in the Governor's room, City Hall.

"WABASH SCRATCHES," is the title of a funny little sheet printed at Lafayette, Ind., the 31 No. of which has been sent to us. It is edited by Urgent Request, Esq., who manages to "scratch" together a good many clever things. It is issued weekly at a dime a month.

ISCENT.—The St. Louis Republican says a man named Johnson, residing in that city and his daughter, a married woman, but who has been for sometime living apart from her husband, have been indicted by the Grand Jury, now in session, for incest. They were both arrested and placed in jail, to be tried for the revolting offence.

On our Saturday's issue we shall give the account of Mr. CLAY'S reception in New York, which, by all accounts, was the most splendid affair ever witnessed in the great commercial Metropolis.

The waters of the Rhine are at present so low that the foundations of the piers of the great bridge which the Emperor Constantine built over the river in the year 808, are visible.

Newark, N. J., affords probably one of the best examples in the country of the advantages of manufactures to a town. In 1826, Newark had only a population of 8,017 inhabitants; now its population amounts to about 30,000.

THE TOMB OF ADAMS.—The tomb which Mr. Adams caused to be prepared for his mortal remains, is in the ancient burying ground at Quincy, within a few feet of the gate, and to the left of the gateway. The back part of the tomb is toward the gateway. This burying ground has been in use upwards of two centuries, and is enclosed by a substantial stone wall. The remains of ex-President John Adams and of his wife, repose beneath the church on the opposite side of the street, near the old burying ground.

SUCCESS TO HIM.—In the House of Representatives, on Saturday, Mr. Sawyer gave notice that he would, at an early day, ask leave to introduce a bill making provisions to bring home the remains of officers and soldiers killed in Mexico.

Bennett says very truly, that Gen Taylor is the only man of the day who writes and fights with the same sublime simplicity in each line of his business.

(From the New York Tribune March 8.)

MR. CLAY IN NEW YORK.

A more brilliant day for the ceremonies attendant upon the visit of HENRY CLAY to our city could not have been desired. The air was clear and elastic, the skies bright and the waters of the bay as smooth as in summer. Nature seemed to have decked herself in holiday attire to welcome the illustrious statesman to the commercial metropolis of the Union.

The splendid and spacious steamer C. Vanderbilt, had been kindly placed at the disposal of the common council by Capt Vanderbilt for the occasion. She had been newly painted and refitted for the season just commencing, and by her beauty and the convenience of her arrangements was well adapted for the service to which she was appropriated.

The committee having in charge the duty of meeting Mr. Clay at Albany, and conducting him to the city, had contemplated being accompanied by some two hundred invited guests, but so great was the desire to see the city's illustrious visitor that at least six hundred persons obtained tickets, and only the impossibility of making room for a larger number prevented a much more numerous assembly.

Among those present were the members of the common council, and many eminent citizens both in public and private life. All seemed filled with that enthusiastic attachment to Mr. Clay, which he, of all men, has the power of inspiring forth and securing. As the Vanderbilt put off, she was loudly cheered by the multitude assembled on the wharf, and the passengers of one or two boats that met in the bay manifested the same sympathy in the purpose of the excursion.

The boat arrived at Albany at about 11 o'clock, and as soon as the cars arrived the committee proceeded to receive Mr. Clay with the Philadelphia delegation, and escort him on board. When he appeared, the air was rent with shouts, which were repeated as he passed amid the crowd, quietly bowing his response to the warm expressions of those around him. He appeared in excellent health, and bore himself erect, with all the vigor of a young man. His form has lost little of its apparent strength, and his features retain the same manly and noble grandeur which so truly express the character of the man. He was conducted to the upper saloon of the Vanderbilt, where Morton McMichael, Esq., on behalf of the Philadelphia committee, received him into the care of our city council, in the following address:

MR. President: The committee which speaks through me have come hither in the belief of the people of Philadelphia, to transfer to you among the illustrious citizen, who for some years past has been our honored guest, and our common parent as in public capacity, and on no public mission, not expecting any of the gratifications and enjoyments which there may be in loud and earnest expressions of the general regard. He came rather anxious to avoid all ceremony and parade, and desiring only to meet his old familiar friends in the most familiar way. In this desire, it is unnecessary for me to say, it was impossible that he should be gratified. All hearts spontaneously rebelled against such a purpose. The whole people of Philadelphia, animated by one common impulse of affection, rose up in arms, and thronged the roofs and windows of the houses, till they presented such a spectacle as was never seen before. You would have said that those roofs and windows spoke, there were so many greedy eyes, so many faces lighted up with joy to bid welcome to Henry Clay.

So it was that day, so it was all the days that he was among us. So constant, so tireless, so enthusiastic were the well-meant kindnesses of our people, that I for one was afraid that the object of them would be totally overwhelmed and exhausted. Those overhanging clouds of affection, those showers of love, which Henry Clay could have elicited, may, we were so hardy as to say, have himself, could have endured. They came, too, from those beautiful instincts of our spiritual nature, which prompt admiration for whatever is truly great and noble and exalted in man! They showed the most love and reverence, those who lift themselves above the meanness and narrowness to which less gifted and elevated natures are prone, and showed that in so doing all must deeply and truly love Henry Clay. Yes, reverent him as one whose tongue was never tainted with falsehood, nor his soul stained with shame!

Now was it the members of his own party alone who thus rose to do him honor, but the members of all parties. All looked to him—all turned to him—all were irresistibly drawn to him to one before whom Nature herself seemed to stand up and say to all the world, "this is a man!"

We should feel pain in this separating from one we so love, but under a view of the cordial invitation which you have extended to him, and the general desire of all your citizens to have him among you, we feel that you are entitled to some portion of that pleasure which his presence everywhere bestows. We resign him to you in full confidence that you will welcome him as no man could be welcomed but HENRY CLAY.

Mr. McMichael's speech was interrupted by frequent applause, and was warmly responded to at the close.

When silence was restored Hon. Morris Franklin, president of the board of aldermen, turned to Mr. Clay, and addressed him as follows:

On behalf of the common council of our city and of the assembled thousands who are now awaiting your arrival in anxious expectation, I am the honored instrument of tendering you a sincere and cordial welcome to their hospitality, and to assure you of a warm and heart-felt reception in the commercial metropolis of our country. For in the anticipation of this, your visit, every sectional prejudice has been forgotten, and we are united as the heart of one man in extending the right hand of fellowship to so distinguished and illustrious a stranger. You have come among us, sir, not with the gilded trappings of military splendor or the bugle notes of a victorious chieftain; with no public patronage with which to reward your followers, but merely as a private citizen—yet wearing upon your brow as proud a civic wreath as could be entwined by the affections of the American people for one of their noblest and best loved sons. It is therefore, in the spirit of unity of our hearts, that we anticipate with pleasure the opportunity which you have afforded us of presenting to our constituents one whom all will delight to honor, who in the enthusiasm of their feelings, will hail with pleasure that hour when your ship shall have become their welcome and their honored guest, and they shall have seen the person and heard the voice of him who for so many years has been associated in their recollections with the darkest and brightest days of our country's history. For, when after a long and arduous career in the cabinet, or in the halls of legislation, your services will ever be appreciated by a grateful and confident people, and when this age with all its parties and its prejudices shall have passed away and the future historian shall sketch a faithful picture of the past, your name will appear in bold relief among its noblest and purest names. As Mr. Clay said along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as he entered he was greeted by loud satisfaction by those surrounding him.

After he had concluded speaking there was a general rush to take him by the hand.

The crowd in the streets and on the battery was immense, and so thick that it was difficult for police to make way for the procession to move. As Mr. Clay passed along he, greeted by such cheers as only the warm enthusiasm of spontaneous hearts can produce.

On entering Castle Garden an impressive spectacle presented itself. The whole of that vast area was filled with people waiting with impatience for his arrival. As soon as